

January 2019

To whom it may concern,

We chose Brendon as our architect for our new home as he had already completed a home within the estate in which we live, and the architectural style created appealed to us.

His portfolio of work as well as his working experience also convinced us he was right for the job. We were able to connect on many levels and to talk freely about what we required. Brendon was then able to bring his level of design and detail to the fore in a decisive yet supportive manner. Brendon was appointed for project stages 1 to 6, from start to finish, assisting with budget development and control.

As the house was constructed in an estate, design guidelines were in place. Brendon was able to massage these in order to create an architectural style that was right for us. Following the development of a design brief, clear, precise design images and 3D models were created, ensuring we were able to understand all aspects of the project. Following successfully obtaining Estate and City approval, Brendon assisted us with the tender process, having issued a concise set of tender documentation, as well as the appointment of a committed structural engineer. Once the suitable contractor was appointed all the necessary contractual documentation was finalised including a comprehensive schedule of works. Brendon's commitment and enthusiasm were evident throughout the project, always ready to resolve onsite / offsite issues or details in a methodical, precise and consistent manner. He ensured all parties were well informed and decisions were made timeously and with budget in mind. Contractual documentation was well managed with all items being recorded and effectively conveyed. Brendon, with us, was always looking for the application of new products or trends within our specific requirements. His positive demeanour ensured all parties worked well together and in harmony, never losing sight of the end goal, a home that we truly wanted.

I have no hesitation in recommending Brendon and please contact me if you wish to further discuss the above on 084 669 6690 or tammy.dent@sixsenses.com.

Sincerely,
